CONCORD, N.H.

Honorable Harry E. Jackson
Deputy Secretary of State
State House
Concord, New Hampshire

Dear Mr. Jackson:

Confirming our conversation of this date with respect to those persons who were elected to the Constitutional Convention on write-in votes, I find no duty on the part of the Secretary of State to demand of them that they execute affidavits in accordance with RSA 588:14.

It is my belief, however, that the Secretary of State has a duty, in certifying to the Convention the persons who were elected, specially to list those who have not filed the required affidavit, and to draw to the attention of the appropriate officials of the Convention the fact that under the statute cited such persons may not qualify for the office of delegate until they shall have filed such affidavit.

Very truly yours,

Warren E. Waters
Deputy Attorney General
